PENINSULAR AND ORIENTAL COMPANY.

QUARANTINE AT EGYPTIAN AND CONTINENTAL PORTS.

ARRANGEMENTS have been made for PASSING the Company's steamers THROUGH THE SUEZ CANAL in QUARANTINE, thus avoiding any detention in Egypt.

The HOMEWARD MAILS are now being landed at VENICE, but the Quarantine, which is still imposed at this and all other Continental Ports, PREVENTS the landing of PASSENGERS, and the QUICKEST route by which they can reach England is to proceed to PLYMOUTH DIRECT.

The passages of the steamers will continue to be accelerated as much as possible. The last four steamers have made the voyage from Bombay to Plymouth in 26 days. Until the Continental route is again open, passengers taking three-monthly Return Tickets will be allowed an extension of a fortnight, if required.

F. D. PARKER,
Superintendent.

CHRONOGRAPH WATCHES,

OF A NEW AND IMPROVED SYSTEM.

WE have just received a consignment of NEW RACE OR CHRONOGRAPH WATCHES which for durability, accuracy, precision, and convenience leave nothing to be desired.

The Chronograph hand is in front of the watch over the hour and minute hands. The cases are extra strong, with a solid cover on the back and a glass inside to protect the work.

The general objections to the Chronographs with second hand and glass on the back were that those glasses often broke, and each time necessitated a cleaning; that the glasses did not thoroughly protect the works from dust; and that to move the regulator it almost required the help of a watchmaker.

All these serious drawbacks of an otherwise good watch have been avoided in the construction of our new and improved Chronograph watches.

DEFECTIVE OR FAILING SIGHT.

THE sense of sight is so valuable that the importance of perfect and carefully adjusted spectacles can scarcely be overrated; although the wearing of single eye-glasses should be strictly avoided, we have the highest medical authority, confirmed by daily experience, that imperfect glasses, together with the haphazard plan of selection generally employed, are frequent causes of irremediable injury to the sight; and as no present economy can compensate for such a loss, it behoves all to be cautious how they are tempted to use the common pebble or glass spectacles now so generally sold.

For the guidance of those who are using pebble spectacles, it may be stated that when the pebbles are cut against the grain, and not polished on the principle which has been universally declared the most appropriate, based on scientific research, they are injurious to the sight.

Unadvisable as the unnecessary wearing of spectacles undoubtedly is, the common notion that their use should be postponed to the utmost is carried beyond dispute to be a grave mistake.

Being in possession of all the optical instruments taken over by us from Dr. A. Meniel, we are not only in a position to suit the eye sight to perfection, but to supply different accommodations for each eye which so frequently are needed.

The Bombay Gazette

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1883.

A VOLUMINOUS blue-book, entitled "Suggestions in regard to Sanitary Works and Measures required for improving Indian Stations, prepared and revised by the Army Sanitary Commission," has been published at home. It has evidently been framed from carefully prepared statistics and reports by the chief medical and sanitary authorities in India; and though it deals primarily with the location of troops, much of the information contained will be found valuable in connection with the numerous sanitary questions now being discussed in India. Undoubtedly, the suggestions, the improvements, and the reasons given are all sound, but we fear that thorough effect can never be given to the suggested reforms on account of the large expenditure which would have to be incurred. It appears that to bring the Indian cantonments to a thoroughly good sanitary state, each station should be thoroughly drained by surface and subsoil drainage; an abundant supply of pure water should be distributed over the station; barracks should be constructed on healthy principles, with means of employment for the men in the way of gymnasia, workshops, games, &c., &c.; hospitals should be constructed on improved principles; and, lastly, the sanitary police of stations, bazaars, and adjacent native towns should be improved. One and all of the improvements suggested are necessary if the health of the soldier is to be protected as far as it is humanly possible to protect it. No one can question the immense advantage which would accrue were all these recommendations carried out; but we may, with a certain degree of confidence, assert that not any one cantonment in India is ever likely to fulfil all the conditions necessary for it to be thoroughly good in a sanitary point of view. First as regards the drainage. At present, as the Commission justly observe, Indian cantonments are, as a rule, small towns with no attempt whatever at drainage—certainly no subsoil drainage. We can form no accurate estimate of what the cost of a drainage system for all the cantonments that require it would be, but it would certainly be an enormous sum—certainly more than the Indian Treasury would ever be able to afford. Then as regards the water-supply. The Commission considers that, as a rule, wells contain much that renders the water indifferent—and, of course, tanks are much worse—so much foul matter is conveyed into wells by the natural subsoil drainage which runs into them. It would be a large order to provide for each station a water-supply brought in by pipes from some distant reservoir where the water was undeniably pure, and, of course, practically out of the question. The best water that can conveniently be got must be used and purified as far as possible by filtering. This is the course universally followed. With respect to the construction of barracks

THE JURISDICTION BILL.

OPINIONS OF THE N.-W. P. JUDGES.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

LAHORE, SEPT. 4.

Chief Justice Sir R. Stuart, of the Allahabad High Court, sees no reason for the Bill. He does not hold that because Native Judges can try civil cases, determining questions of property, therefore they can deal with criminal cases involving questions of temper and temperament. There is a strange difference between the moral sense of natives and of Europeans. He doubts if the most educated native could safely handle the delicate considerations arising when a European is tried for a criminal offence. He cannot understand how tried personal fitness can be ascertained. No doubt a Competition Civilian, who has been in England, might have the qualifications. Doubtless there are many who might be entrusted with any duty, criminal or civil. He knows one such, but the official in question is a Parsee who was called to the bar in England. There is a peculiarity of the native mind—that they cannot investigate facts irrespective of anything but their nature. He knows native lawyers who could argue closely, but cannot deal with disputed facts as such; and he refers to the Native Commissioners in Mulhar Rao's case to show that the native mind is incapable of apprehending plain facts resting on clear evidence. Sir Dinkar Rao and the Maharajahs contented themselves by giving their opinion, without referring to the evidence, as to the innocence of the Gaekwar. The English Commissioners went steadily into the facts. The native Commissioners evidently considered that the Gaekwar's rank was too high to be touched by anything witnesses of humble station could say. Thence he concludes that native officers could not fairly try Europeans. He suggests that the jurisdiction should be given only to Covenanted Civilians who have competed in England; and recommends that in important cases the High Court should be notified and asked whether the case should go on before a Native Magistrate. That would give every reasonable protection to Europeans.

Justice Oldfield sees no immediate necessity for the Bill, which the natives were not asking for. Still it is desirable to remove invidious race distinctions. The opponents of the Bill believe it will be injurious in its tendency; but they have greatly exaggerated its mischievous effects. The Bill may be safely passed, with modifications. He would give the jurisdiction to Native Covenanted Civilians only. Having resided in England and been in contact with Europeans, they may be expected to have the requisite fairness and tact.

Justices Straight, Brodhurst, and Tyrrell give a joint opinion that the Bill was not wanted in the North-West Provinces, where European cases are rare. Only 817 cases came before all the courts in ten years; and no difficulty has arisen in respect to them. The anomaly of the present state of the law never obtruded itself; and for that matter the existence of English courts in India is an anomaly. Much of the feeling exhibited is exaggerated and undignified; but there is no pressing need for the Bill. They have no sympathy with the language used with regard to Native Magistrates. Its injustice injures the cause of the opponents of the Bill. It is not creditable to our system of law that it should be said that a whole class of those employed under it are unfit to exercise any jurisdiction at all. But though good in civil cases, Native Magistrates are not quite so happy in criminal cases. Many Native Magistrates do not appreciate the rules of evidence, or record depositions with strict care and accuracy. The Bill is not wanted, but if passed, the jurisdiction might be given to Sessions Judges and District Magistrates who have entered the service by competition. And with this concession, there should be a declaration that it was not to be regarded as a precedent, or a basis of future agitation.

THE CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF THE CENTRAL PROVINCES.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, SEPT. 6.

Mr. W. Brittain Jones, Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces, says that non-official opinion there is almost wholly against the Bill. This was to be expected, for generally Europeans are not acquainted with the considerations influencing the Government in dealing with such questions. Public opinion amongst them should be systematically educated, otherwise the opposition will not disappear; but he hopes that with the help of the leaders of the European community, a compromise may be effected. The question arouses passions, and is difficult to decide besides, because of conflicting claims of Europeans and natives; but some on both sides recognise the difficulty and acquit their opponents of conscious unfairness. Some Europeans obstinately and blindly resist any concession to the natives, but they are not the majority, and Government cannot be influenced by their views. As a principle, it is right that cases in which Europeans are accused should be triable by European or Native Magistrates, just as those are in which Europeans are complainants. If the law made it necessary that whenever a Brahmin was accused his Judge should be a Brahmin, the unfairness would be seen at once. It might be that the Brahmins alone knew how to read and write, and were the only competent judges, but they should get the judicial office on account of personal fitness, and not of their descent. In this point of view the European case is strong, for the law generally secured the fittest Judges. A European can best try Europeans, especially when the accuser and accused are both Europeans. No one has a national right to try another, and no native should feel wronged because he does not try Europeans. An English Magistrates who spends his working life in India knows more of the natives than a Native Civilian knows of Europeans. On the other hand, people are led astray by thinking exclusively of the accused person. The object of the administration of justice is not simply the security of the accused, but that as between society and the accused right shall be done. The conviction of the innocent is the greatest judicial error, acquittal of the guilty next to that. If the interests of accused persons were alone in question, the argument for trying Europeans by Europeans would be overwhelming; but if the object be to give reasonable security to the innocent and yet ensure impartial justice between accuser and accused, the argument becomes not quite so strong. The European, however, is exposed to the danger of false accusations, and that is some reason for the privilege which now exists. The true principle is that race considerations are condemned, and Government should choose the fittest Judges. Europeans would then be chosen by preference, but not exclusively.

He would give the jurisdiction to Sessions Judges and District Magistrates. It would be monstrous to say that men selected for such posts could not be trusted to try a European. Mere administrative convenience would not of itself warrant a change; but when no doubt can be entertained of his fitness for the function, to deserve a man of it at the cost of administrative inconvenience would be unwise. He would not give the jurisdiction to others, though many are no doubt fit for it. He would not alarm Europeans, who might doubt the discretion of Government in making a choice. He is opposed to the slight on non-official Europeans in excluding them from the Justiceship of the Peace. If Government desired to do more, they might make all cities with European inhabitants above a certain number, Presidency towns for magisterial purposes, and confer the jurisdiction on all Magistrates, but with the proviso that a European should sit on the bench when a European was accused by a native. But this latter proposal he does not urge very strongly. The other proposals would give full security to the military European.

He thinks Government are bound to proceed with the Bill to the extent of conferring the jurisdiction on Sessions Judges and District Magistrates; and he urges on Government the importance of taking notice of cases where, natives being complainants, European influence tells in their favour. Europeans are even more interested than natives in insisting that violent attacks by Europeans on natives are properly punished.

TERRIBLE EFFECTS OF THE JAVA ERUPTION.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

RANGOON, SEPT. 6.

The effects of the volcanic eruption in Java were experienced at Penang, 800 miles off, for 48 hours from Sunday, 26th August. Reports as of cannonading were heard there. So loud were they on Monday, when two slight shocks of earthquake were felt, that it was thought a salute was being fired in the harbour.

The British Consul at Batavia has telegraphed to the Revenue Secretary, Rangoon, that the principal damage was caused by the tidal wave, and was mostly confined to the districts in the west of Java and south-east of Sumatra. It is impossible to estimate the extent of the damage, as some important districts of Sumatra are yet unvisited and unapproachable from the sea, owing to a mass of floating pumice. Relief parties are forcing their way overland. The loss of growing and stored grain is comparatively small, but the distress is nevertheless great. It is believed that over 25,000 people have been drowned.

THE Rev. G. Gothard, M. A., is appointed to officiate as Chaplain of Colaba.

IT was announced in the Government Gazette yesterday that Dr. Barker had been appointed to act for Dr. Blanc during the absence, or until further orders. As no intimation was given of the cause of Dr. Blanc's absence, we are requested to state that Dr. Blanc merely goes on privilege leave for fifty days, in about six weeks' time.

DURING the absence of Dr. McConaghy, Surgeon-Major Bainbridge acts as Civil Surgeon of Dharwar, and Surgeon H. B. Briggs takes his place at Satara.

MR. WHITE, Collector of Surat, goes on leave for two months and thirteen days, and Mr. Whitworth acts for him.

THE Secretary of State has sanctioned the extended leave for three months granted to Mr. E. C. K. Ollivant by the Municipal Corporation of Bombay.

MR. WARDEN, Third Judge of the Bombay Small Causes Court, has been granted an extension of his furlough for two-and-a-half months.

THE European residents at Rajkot, Bhownuggur, and Bhuj are to have the unusual treat of a visit from a Church of England clergyman. A notification in yesterday's Government Gazette states that "the Rev. C. Kirk, M. A., will visit Kathiawar and Cutch twice before the end of this year, spending one day each at Bhuj, Rajkot, and Bhownuggur."

FROM the weekly report of the Executive Engineer to the Municipality, we find that after a rainfall of 72·83 inches there were 52·60 feet of water in the Vehar lake on the 31st ult., against 51·10 feet on the corresponding date of last year after a rainfall of only 46·19 inches. The Tulsi lake after a rainfall of 80·83 inches, contained 52·85 feet on the 31st ult, as against 45·83 feet on the corresponding date of last year, when the total rainfall was 64·62 inches.

IN connection with the deficient rainfall in certain parts of the North-West Provinces, the Allahabad paper says that the Government have ready at hand the plans for several large public works, which will be begun whenever there are any distinct symptoms of distress among the labouring population. The season, however, is so abnormal and the monsoon currents so variable this year, that it is impossible to say from day to day what may be the next development. In any case, distress can hardly show itself for some little time to come.

AT Satary (Goa), the orange trees have been so damaged by locusts, a local paper says, that it will be difficult to find even a dozen oranges this season. Thousands have always been exported in former years.

PASSENGERS arriving at Goa are made to undergo quarantine on board the vessels they go by, the lazaretto at Reis-Magos not having as yet been put in fit condition for their reception.

THE Pigot vs. Hastie suit was continued before Mr. Justice Norris in the Calcutta High Court on Monday, when the examination of the Reverend W. Hastie occupied the whole day. Under examination by Mr. Gasper, Mr. Hastie instanced indications of Miss Pigot's having disregarded external propriety with a Mr. Wilson, senior lay missionary of the Church of Scotland, on several occasions; on one occasion in Barrackpore Park, where Miss Pigot allowed Mr. Wilson to recline his head on her shoulder. Mr. Hastie also referred to the improper relations alleged to have existed between Miss Pigot and Baboo Kali Churn Banerjee (a pleader of the High Court), and a Native Christian whom Mr. Hastie had interdicted from visiting the Zenana Mission premises. Mr. Jackson has joined Messrs. Trevelyan and O'Kinealy as counsel for the plaintiff.

THE latest news from Silchar is to the effect that the disastrous floods there and in Sylhet were subsiding. Great distress, however, prevailed in those districts, owing to the devastation of the grain crops.

THE tour of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal is drawing to a close. Mr. Rivers Thompson visited Comillah, on the borders of Eastern Bengal, last week, and was due at Sara, the southern terminus of the Northern Bengal State Railway, on Tuesday. Thence he travels by rail to Kurseong, at the foot of the hills, where he will remain for a week before going on to Darjeeling. The Lieutenant-Governor is stated to have met with an enthusiastic reception from the natives of all classes during his tour.

THE attempt at local self-government at Rangoon has not, so far, proved a very eminent success. A telegram to a Calcutta paper, dated September 3, says:—"Local self-government here has resulted in the Burman President of the Thongzai Municipality being accused of undertaking Municipal contracts himself, and paying himself from Municipal Funds for goods and labour supplied by him. The matter is under investigation."

THE Statesman has quite a new suggestion for the solution of the jurisdiction difficulty:—"Instead of opposing the demand of the English community that they shall be subject only to Magistrates and Judges of their own race, the whole native community of India should prefer similar demands for themselves. It is a wrong to any race to subject it to tribunals presided over by foreigners, while to force this subjection upon the European community at the very time when we are recognizing the evil and the injustice done to the native races by such arrangements, is Indian to the very core of it. . . What Mr. Ilbert should really do is to so legislate, if possible, that no race in India should be subjected to either Magistrates or Judges of any nationality but their own. We may not be able to give expression to this principle fully, but we can do so widely enough to make it the rule of our executive arrangements. And is the Englishman really to be the exception? The only part of the Bill that we sympathise with is the provision that those native gentlemen who have forced their way into the Covenanted Civil Service should be in all respects treated as English Civilians. They do, we emphatically, to be entrusted with every power and every right of Englishmen, and our 'sympathy,' we believe, guides us to a right decision in the case."

SIR EVELYN WOOD, with Colonels Fraser, Watson, and Layton, have left Egypt for England, viâ Port Said, having well earned a holiday. "No words," the Alexandria correspondent of the Times says, "can be too strong to characterize the devotion shown by General Wood and all his officers, without exception, to their men during the epidemic. When the first case of cholera declared itself in the hospital the native doctors and attendants fled, and, until by their own conduct they had restored confidence, the English officers alone tended the sick, with a degree of devotion rare among friends, even preparing the dead bodies for burial, and carrying them to the grave. But of eight men seized with the disease in the Egyptian army only thirty died, a result mainly owing to the incessant nursing of the sufferers by the English officers."

ON a recent notice-paper of the House of Commons appeared a question to be put to the Under-Secretary of State for India by Mr. J. T. Rogers, inquiring as to the supposed unhealthiness of Pisheen, Thul-Chotiali, and other trans-pontine stations in Afghanistan. Here is Nemesis descending on a metropolitan member for wandering so far afield, away from the concerns of his constituency. Mr. Rogers was of course thinking (as he ought to be), says the St. James's Gazette, of his trans-pontine supporters in Southwark; and hence the accidental slip for the less familiar "trans-frontier."

FROM a second report made by Professor Michele Stefano di Rossi, head of the Central Geodynamic Observatory at Rome, to the Minister of Agriculture, on the phenomena connected with the earthquake in Ischia, it appears that not only were there for some days beforehand very distinct premonitory signs at Casamicciola of the impending catastrophe, but that throughout the peninsula forewarnings, identical in character, were numerous and widespread. On the island of Ischia there was an extraordinary increase in the temperature of the thermal water and in the violence of the fumaroli (i.e., the natural smoke funnels) at the spot called Monte Cito. These phenomena were noticed eight days before the catastrophe occurred. On these important points the evidence which Professor di Rossi obtained is abundant. There is less conclusive testimony concerning the shrinking and consequent scarcity of the drinking-water in the wells. But he has absolutely certified that commencing from a period a fortnight anterior to July 28, many slight shocks of earthquake, of almost daily recurrence, were felt, and subterranean rumblings were heard.

A RIOTOUS mob of over a thousand persons made a demonstration in front of the Chief Police Office of Vienna on Aug. 10. The rioters, after hooting and yelling, proceeded to smash the windows of the office. Strong bodies of police quickly appeared, but as they were not sufficient to cope with the crowd, the military—cavalry as well as infantry—were called in. In carrying out their orders to disperse the mob the troops met with some resistance, and the mounted force had to use their sabres, the result being that about thirty of the rioters were more or less severely wounded. Eventually the riotous assemblage was broken up, eighty persons being arrested and lodged in prison. The disturbances were chiefly due to the action of the authorities, who, after having arrested, tried, and acquitted, on a charge of high treason, an English cabinet-maker named Stevens, apprehended on the supposition that he was a Socialist, named John Neve, a friend of Most, kept him in custody until he could be handed over to the German police to answer a similar charge in Germany.

DURING the recent anti-Jewish outbreak at Ekaterinoslav, in Russia, 14 persons were killed, 73 wounded, and 121 taken into custody. The property of more than 200 Jewish tradespeople, representing a value of 80,000 roubles, was pillaged and destroyed. The town is occupied by four regiments of infantry, a brigade of artillery, three sotnias of Cossacks, and a squadron of cavalry. All trade is suspended.

Two of the most interesting houses in England, from a literary point of view, are, Land says, about to be sold. Every visitor to Broadstairs knows "Bleak House," which stands so conspicuously on the cliff at one extremity of the bended bow forming the sea-front of that charming little seaside place. In that house Dickens spent many a summer holiday, and within its walls much of his early work was written. It has become known as Bleak House by association only, for its real name is Fort House. Lawn House, hard by, is also to be sold by Messrs. Friend, Vinten, and Co. This was another of Dickens's holiday residences, which he occupied on several occasions before he took Fort House. A considerable portion of "The Old Curiosity Shop" was written at Lawn House. "Bleak House" is the more famous of the two seaside villas, and one of the few "sights" of Broadstairs. Hero-worshipping Americans are very fond of taking a stealthy walk by night up to its gates and plucking mementoes from the pretty flowering trees in the garden which overhang the path outside.

A REMARKABLE incident occurred recently on the Midland Railway at Birmingham. A lady on reaching Saltley Junction with a quantity of luggage and a baby, was told that she must change for New-street station. In her hurry she placed her baby in a first-class compartment and then went to the goods' van to see after her boxes, but before she could return to the compartment where she had deposited the infant the train started, leaving the horrified lady standing on the platform. Almost distracted, she cried out for help and fainted away, but on recovering consciousness was placed in a cab with instructions to be driven to the central station, Birmingham, as fast as possible. The baby in the meantime had been carried through the tunnel kicking and screaming to the alarm of other passengers in the train, and on arrival at New-street was found to the astonishment of the railway officials to be the only occupant of the carriage. It was at first imagined that some one had deserted the child, and a conference was held as to what had best be done with it. Just at this time a gentleman sauntered up, and inquired what was the matter. Before an explanation could be given him, the baby, who had so far been crying and screaming lustily, suddenly began to clap its hands and look pleased, whereupon the gentleman exclaimed, "Why, dear me, this is my own little niece." The gentleman had arrived at the station with the intention of meeting his sister. Naturally the greatest excitement prevailed as to what had become of the mother. The arrival of the affrighted lady in a cab, however, quickly set matters right.

ALTHOUGH the questions in the House of Commons eclipse in number those in the Upper House, the Pall Mall Gazette doubts whether among the former could be found one to excel in quiet humour the following, which recently appeared in the Lords' minutes:—"The Earl Fortescue.—On going into Committee on the Agricultural Holdings Bill, to ask the Government whether they will consider the practicability of introducing into the Bill some provision for alleviating the great hardship now suffered by the family of any clergyman if he dies whilst occupying his glebe, as many clergymen have latterly found themselves reluctantly compelled to do."

MILITARY NEWS.

A NEW description of dress and equipment for the Native Cavalry of the Bombay Army appears in yesterday's Government Gazette. The colour of the uniform is to be dark green, and the trimming gold lace.

WE (Pioneer) explained some little time ago the arrangements which would be made for strengthening the Thull-Chotiali posts; and we may now add that the cavalry detachments from Northern India told off for the somewhat disagreeable duty of keeping watch over the Marris and Bugtis will move across the frontier next month. Two squadrons of the 10th Bengal Lancers from Sialkot and a squadron of the 5th Punjab Cavalry from Rajanpur will meet at Dera Ghazi Khan, and proceed to Thull through the Hans Pass. Ultimately the squadron from the Frontier Force will march to Sibi for duty at that post, while the 10th Bengal Lancers will send out detachments to Mundaie and Thulli.

THERE will be a considerable influx of military men into Bangalore in connection with the forthcoming camp of exercise. The following officers are already booked to put in an appearance:—His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India, Sir Donald Stewart, accompanied by Captain Owen, Captain Haines, and Lieut. Stewart, A.D.C.'s, as also by a Native A.D.C.; Major-General Greaves, Adjutant-General in India; Major-General Sir Charles Macgregor, Quartermaster-General in India; Colonel Collet, Deputy Adjutant-General; Colonel Sanford, Deputy Quartermaster-General; Colonel T. Hughes, R.A., Deputy Adjutant-General; Colonel H. Moore, Persian Interpreter; Surgeon-Major Davis; two A. D. C.'s and Resaldar Major Hasan Ali Khan, Sirdar Bahadur, Native A.D.C.; Brigadier-General John Gordon, Sir Hugh Gough; Colonel Hughes, 2nd Dorsetshire Regiment; Colonel Marter, 1st Dragoon Guards (who captured Cetewayo after the battle of Ulundi); Colonel Hudson, 28th Punjab Native Infantry; Lieut.-Colonel Biscoe, Assistant Adjutant-General; Major Pearson, Deputy Assistant Quartermaster-General; and Major Covey, Durham Light Infantry.

TELEGRAPHIC WEATHER REPORT.

SIMLA, Sept. 5.—The pressure has decreased briskly almost everywhere, though the fall is somewhat greater over Burmah and in the Punjab than elsewhere. Several small local disturbances are again reported to be passing across Northern India, their various positions being marked by the varying winds in the neighbourhood of their centres, by unsettled weather, and by heavy local falls of rain. Over the Peninsula the conditions are less unsettled, a steady westerly breeze blowing in that neighbourhood, bringing rain to the western side, but leaving the Carnatic with fine weather. Rain to-day:—Lahore, Saugor Island, Guna, Jeypore, and Goa, 2 inches; Delhi, Mussoorie, Agra, Allahabad, Ruttnagherry, Mangalore, and Diamond Island, 1 inch; Simla, Chakrata, Pachmarhi, Akola, Kurrachee, Bombay, and Belgaum, ½ inch. Previously:—Hoshungabad, 4 inches; Gauhati, Jullundar, Umballa, Jeypore, Rajkot, Rutnagherry, Dhoolia, and Satara over 1 inch.

MR. MALABARI'S VISION OF THE JURISDICTION BILL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—I was glad to see a few days ago a letter in your columns from Mr. Malabari, pointing out how an up-country writer had misquoted from his book "Gujarat and the Gujaratees." I like misquotations to be corrected and pointed out. Misquotation is a powerful weapon, nearly as powerful at times as, when intentional, it always is mean. Few things tell more on those ignorant of the facts than misquotation. Therefore I was glad to see Mr. Malabari correct the false account given of what he had said as to Mr. Tagore's ability as a Judge.

But another thing as essential to good, sound writing is accuracy. To verify one's statements is often as disagreeable as to verify one's quotations. Therefore I was mightily amused to read Mr. Malabari's letter. Some months ago his book, published in London, and therefore intended for readers in England as well as in India, was reviewed by you and in other papers. Do I not recollect seeing and my notice taken of a most remarkable "picture taken from life" in the book. The author's prophetic eye has in it glanced far ahead. Disputes as to Mr. Ilbert's Bill and the jurisdiction question are nothing to him, more than dreams of the past days now long gone. Turn to the chapter on "Scenes in a Mofussil Magistrate's Court," and you will see that all the discussions, the angry passions, the race animosity, the tomes of newspaper correspond which no necessity can be made out. Such is the truly universal consensus of opinion in the Central Provinces, and comparing it with those of other provinces, it can only be said that if the Government of India wish to show how little value they set upon the judgment of their services they have a fine opportunity before them."

THE JEWELLERY COURT OF THE CALCUTTA EXHIBITION.

THERE is even, reason to hope that one of the most remarkable features of the International Exhibition of 1883-84 will be the richness and value of the jewels displayed. The jewels of India have been celebrated from the earliest times. For many centuries they form the principal mode of investment of the capital of the wealthy, and the habit of accumulating riches in the form of jewellery has survived to a great extent to the present day. In recent years many of the finest European gems have been brought to India and have here found purchasers. The value of the jewels accumulated in the hands of the wealthy chiefs and nobles of India is practically incalculable, and it may safely be said that a tithe of these, if exhibited, would afford a display unrivalled in the world's history. In many respects India is still a backward country. In arts and manufactures, though much progress has taken place, and great improvements have been introduced, she cannot hope yet to compete successfully with Western nations. In the splendour and variety of her jewels, however, she stands alone and need not fear competition. It is on this account that the president and members of the Executive Committee have devoted so much attention and expense to the provision of a suitable jewellery court, and they hope that their efforts may be readily and liberally seconded by the nobles and chiefs in whose power it lies to provide a collection of which India may be justly proud.

It is not alone, moreover, in the intrinsic value of her gems that India stands pre-eminent. In beauty of design and delicacy of workmanship, her ornaments of gold and silver can hold their own against the produce of the West, and it is to this point also that the Executive Committee would wish to invite the attention of intending exhibitors. The large demand for Indian jewellery and ornaments of late years has led in some parts of India to the substitution of coarse and inferior workmanship for the delicate and careful labour of former times. One of the objects of the exhibition is to encourage the better class of work and to set before workmen and the public who virtually control the operations of the workmen, specimens of the best art that India can produce. The taste of workmen and of the public will thus be improved. It is with a view to this result, to the revival of the better classes of work and to the substitution in some cases of older and more perfect patterns for those which have become corrupted and debased by the admixture of Western forms that the Committee are anxious to secure a good collection of old and curious work, especially of patterns and designs that have fallen into desuetude. The Committee hope, therefore, that those chiefs and nobles who contribute to the Exhibition will devote their attention as much to the provision of good specimens of purely Indian art, ancient as well as modern, as to the adequate representation of their unique and unrivalled gems.

The following arrangements have been made by the Executive Committee for the custody of the jewels and other valuable property entrusted to their care. All jewels will be placed in a room which has been specially constructed for the purpose, facing Chowringee-road, on the south side of the Indian Museum. The room is 180 feet long by 30 feet wide, and its height is 26 feet. The floor is of Minton's tiles laid in cement, and the thickness of the walls is 20 inches. The only openings in the walls consist of windows situated at an elevation of 19 feet 5 inches from the ground, and of two large doors, one of which will be at each end. The windows will be barred and the doors will consist of strong open iron-work. One of the doors will be kept permanently closed, the other being used both for entrance and exit. This arrangement will render it possible, by admitting a few persons only at a time, to guard against the possibility of an organized attack. At night both doors will be locked and gas will be kept burning till the morning. Strong guards will be posted outside each door, who will be able to see everything in the room, and who will, being excluded by the iron gates, be unable, even if they were so disposed themselves, to get at the jewels. The long walls facing outside on Chowringee and inside on the Exhibition buildings will be patrolled all night. It is believed that there will thus be an entire absence of danger. The experience of Mr. Joubert and others, who have been much connected with exhibitions, leads the Executive Committee to believe that the greatest safeguard for valuable property is to be sought in abundance of light. This arrangement is likely to prove even more secure than would the placing in safes nightly of all the articles exhibited, which would involve opening the cases and the handling of jewels, would thus expose them to the risk of dishonesty from the care-takers. In the Exhibition now being held at Amsterdam a large amount of valuable articles of Indian manufacture have been contributed on loan by the Trustees of the South Kensington Museum, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales and the Earl of Lytton; and the only stipulation made by the lenders is, the Executive Committee are informed, [illegible]sence of two constables night and day, and [illegible]al light. No attempt at robbery has taken [illegible]and the articles are believed to be absolutely [illegible]s an additional precaution, however, and in [illegible]cumstances should render their use desirable [illegible]e large-sized Milner's fire-proof safes have [illegible]ovided for the Calcutta Exhibition. The Executive Committee would much prefer that arrangements for the custody of valuable articles in transit should be made by the owners, but they will be willing to pay any reasonable sum to cover the cost incurred. Should any of the chiefs or nobles desire to send their jewels in the custody of their own servants, or to allow the latter to look after them during the Exhibition, the Executive Committee will have no objection to the arrangement, and will endeavour to find accommodation for the persons sent.—Englishman.

BENGAL.

LIBERALITY.—Mr. Framjee Muncherjee, the well-known Parsee merchant of Calcutta, deserves honorable mention for his numerous deeds of charity. A short time ago he sent to Ahmednugger medicines and cash for the relief of the sufferers from the recent epidemic in that city. The president of the municipality has sent back the cordial thanks of the Relief Committee. During his visit last week to Mozufferpore, Mr. Framjee largely assisted, we hear, the distressed persons in that town who were homeless, owing to the floods there. The liberality of this Parsee gentleman is not confined to any particular class or creed, as many Eurasian and Christian families of this city can testify.—Statesman.

REWARD.—In recognition of the services rendered by the police in the recent prosecutions at the last Criminal Sessions, Messrs. Ralli Brothers have, we hear, presented the sum of Rs. 1,000 to Inspector Johnstone, of the Detective Force, and a sum of Rs. 500 to be distributed amongst the native officers who assisted in working out the case.—Indian Daily News.

LEOPARD SHOT.—On Thursday last a large leopard was shot by one of the officers attached to the 17th N. I., at a place called Sonadangah, on the Diamond Harbour Road, and within two miles of the Cutcherry. The beast, before it was shot, had destroyed a large number of cattle belonging to the villagers about the place. It is said that there are other leopards prowling about the locality.—Englishman.

BRANDING A WIFE.—On Thursday last, a Hindoo woman went to Seebpore to her husband's place to demand her and her son's maintenance. The man was incensed with his wife, and branded her with a hot chillum on several parts of her body. The Deputy Magistrate of Howrah tried the case on Friday last. The evidence adduced against the accused being conclusive, he was sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for four months. Mr. E. V. Westmacott, the Magistrate, called for the papers from the Deputy Magistrate's court, and after going over the records, and not being satisfied with the sentence passed, referred the matter to the High Court for decision. —Ibid.

THE BENGAL RENT BILL.—We are brought now face to face with a revolution, the like of which has never been experienced, as brought about by a civilized Government after calm deliberation and in the name of law. Such revolutions have taken place in the course of the world's history, but they have been the result of violence and bloodshed. The nearest approach to the present Rent Bill, the Irish Land Act, was admittedly the result of a state of discontent and violence, which only lacked physical force to be open rebellion. But here in India, Jupiter has thundered from a clear sky, and when men said peace, where there was no peace, a measure was drawn up, sent home and sanctioned by the present Government, which, if it is passed into law, will deprive a large section of the community of rights which they had fondly hoped the law had secured to them; and what is more, will transfer those rights to a body of men who never asked for them, and the majority of whom are, up to the present moment, ignorant of the good fortune which awaits them.—Englishman.

COUNTERFEITING A TRADE MARK.—Baboo K. C. Guhoo, solicitor (Messrs. Sen and Co.), applied for a summons, on behalf of Messrs. U. C. Dhole and Co., carrying on business at Upper Chitpore-road, against one Womesh Chunder Mittra, carrying on business in the same locality, under the name and style of W. C. Mittra and Co., under sections 482 and 483 of the Indian Penal Code. The solicitor stated that his clients were the registered patentees for the last three years of a certain oil, called the "Perfumed rose cocoa-nut oil," which was very successful, and gained such celebrity that it was recommended by Government to be exhibited in some Exhibition in Europe, some time back. Of late, however, the oil had so commanded that sale which it had done hitherto, and the cause was traced to defendant, who had been counterfeiting the trade-mark, and selling the oil. (Specimens of bottles of oil, one of the registered label of complainant-firm, and the other alleged to have been counterfeited by the defendant, were here produced as exhibits before the court.) After some discussion between the court and the solicitor, the former decided to give his opinion in the matter on Tuesday next, after consultation, adding that it was very doubtful that a criminal court could take cognisance of a case under such peculiar circumstances.—Statesman.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS :—Are you broken in your rest by a sick child suffering with the pain of cutting teeth? Go at once to a chemist and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to the taste, it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP is sold by Medicine dealers everywhere at Rs. 1-8 per bottle. Wholesale depôt, Anglo-American Drug Company, Limited, 38, Farringdon Road, London.

ILLNESS OF THE CATHOLIC BISHOP OF MYSORE.—We regret to hear of the dangerous illness of the Rt. Rev. Dr. Coadeau, Catholic Bishop of Mysore. About 12 days since the Bishop left Bangalore for Pondicherry, to assist in the consecration of a Coadjutor Bishop of that diocese. He was in bad health at the time; but it was thought that the change would be beneficial to him. On Monday letters received at Bangalore from Pondicherry contained the news that the Bishop had been attacked with black jaundice, and that on Thursday last his life had been despaired of. On Friday and Saturday there was a slight improvement; but his condition is still considered dangerous.—Bangalore Spectator.

TEAK TIMBER IN MYSORE.—It is a well-known fact that the forests of Mysore are well stocked with teak timber of magnificent dimensions, but notwithstanding the supply at our doors almost, it is difficult to get a sound log of teak in the market. This is principally attributed to the fact that the feeling is not carried out properly and the timber is heart shaken on its fall. When big timber of any kind is to be felled, the trunk should be half rung and the tree allowed to die and then completely cut down, when all shaking will be avoided. It has been a matter of surprise to us that the Mysore administration does not make a larger income out of its teak forests than it has done. The cutting of teak might be leased out in some of the large forests in the same way as is done in Burmah; with judicious selections and conditions as to age of trees to be felled, good teak might be cut in large quantities for years to come.—Bangalore Spectator.

THE EURASIAN AND ANGLO-INDIAN ASSOCIATION.—A meeting of the Eurasian and Anglo-Indian Association was held at the Memorial Hall on Monday evening for the purpose of giving Mr. D. S. White, an address of welcome. Mr. White, who was received with loud cheers read a paper on the position he had taken in respect to the Criminal Jurisdiction Bill while in England, and in it laid stress on the fact that as Natives of India the members of the Association had nothing to gain or to lose by the passing of the Bill. It was the duty of the members, if they had any grievances, to carry those grievances before the ruling power by constitutional means. He alluded to the Act passed for the appointment of Uncovenanted servants as members of the Civil Service, which Act, however, was not carried out in this presidency, thanks to the course pursued by Lord Lytton's Government. He added that with the power conferred upon him as the delegate of the European Association of Southern India and of the Bombay and Burmah Associations, he did not express his opinions for or against the Bill, but that as President of the Southern Indian Association he said that members of the Association and those domiciled Europeans who were enrolled as members of the Association, ought to support the Government in the cause of law and order. He moved a resolution to this effect, which was recorded, put to the meeting and carried.—Madras Mail.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—In all outward complaints a desperate effort should be made to at once remove these annoying infirmities, and of establishing a cure. The remarkable remedies discovered by Professor Holloway will satisfactorily accomplish this desirable result, without any of those dangers or drawbacks which attend the old method of treating ulcerative inflammations, scrofulous affections, and scorbutic annoyances. The most timid invalids may use both the Ointment and Pills with the utmost safety with certain success, provided a moderate attention be bestowed on their accompanying "Directions." Both the preparations soothe, heal, and purify. The one assists the other most materially in effecting cures and renewing strength by helping exhausted nature just when she needs such succour.
